HAONING LI

PhD Candidate in Applied Linguistics, School of the Arts, Queen Mary University of London haoning.li@qmul.ac.uk ◊ haoningli.hnl@gmail.com ◊ +44 7745 688680

EDUCATION

PhD in Applied Linguistics, Queen Mary University of London — expected 2027
Thesis title: Recontextualising Ergodic Character Gameplay Practice: A Social Semiotic Analysis of Character-Centric Discourse in Gacha Game Interface Interactivity
Supervisors: Agnieszka Lyons; Nelya Koteyko
Thesis status: final stage of writing-up

Master of Translation and Interpreting, Beijing International Studies University — 2021
Areas of focus: Game Localisation; Translation of Multimodal and Multimedia Texts

BA in English, Nanjing University of Finance and Economics — 2018
Area of focus: English–Chinese Translation

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Digital Interfaces and Interactivity; Fandom and Popular Culture; Game Studies; Game Translation and Localisation; Media and Communication; Discourse Analysis; Multimodality; Social Semiotics; Applied Linguistics

AWARDS

Research Support Award, School of the Arts Research Committee, Queen Mary University of London — 2025–26

Research Support Award, School of the Arts Research Committee, Queen Mary University of London — 2024–25

Outstanding Master's Student Award, Beijing International Studies University — 2019–21

PEER-REVIEWED PUBLICATIONS

Journal Articles and Book Chapters

Li, H. (in press). Gaming as public communication of humanistic knowledge. In G. Reid, C. Anson, & X. Tan (Eds.), The Routledge handbook of humanities and social science communication. Routledge.

Li, H. (in press). Negotiating story and character: A social semiotic analysis of gacha game official video thumbnails. Languages in Global Contexts. University of Toronto Press.

Li, H. (2022). An analysis of translation subjectivity and transformation of translator identity in game localisation. Overseas English, (13), 13–14, 22. [In Chinese]

Abstracts in Conference Proceedings

Li, H. (2025). Genre or not: Examining the "-like" suffix as an emergent category expression [Abstract]. In Abstract proceedings of Chinese DiGRA 2025: Video games in museums. Digital Games Research Association. https://doi.org/10.26503/dl.v2025i4.2769

Li, H. (2025). Understanding transmedia character-centric discourse in gacha games: A social semiotic analysis of Genshin Impact [Abstract]. In Abstract proceedings of DiGRA 2025: Games at the crossroads. Digital Games Research Association. https://doi.org/10.26503/dl.v2025i3.2556

PRESENTATIONS

Under Review

Li, H. (2027, June 2–4). Bringing interactivity onto the canvas: Annotating character-centric interfaces in games [Paper presentation]. 13th International Conference on Multimodality (13ICOM), Helsinki, Finland.

Li, H. (2027, February 25–26). Building with glitches: How players make semiotic resources from malfunction [Paper presentation]. Pop Cultural Linguistics 2027: Researching and Theorizing Performed Language and Communication, Lecce, Italy.

Presented

Li, H. (2026, July 1–3). Recontextualising character progression: A social semiotic analysis of gacha game interface interactivity [Paper presentation]. 34th European Systemic Functional Linguistics Conference (ESFLC 34), Gothenburg, Sweden.

Li, H. (2025, November 20–21). Genre or not: Examining the "-like" suffix as an emergent category expression [Paper presentation]. Chinese DiGRA 2025: Video Games in Museums, Shanghai, China.

Li, H. (2025). Understanding transmedia character-centric discourse in gacha games: A social semiotic analysis of Genshin Impact [Paper presentation].

- 50th International Systemic Functional Congress and Institute (ISFC 50), Glasgow, United Kingdom, July 7–11, 2025.
- DiGRA 2025: Games at the Crossroads, Valletta, Malta, June 30–July 4, 2025.

Li, H. (2024, May 2). A social semiotic approach to character-driven game design in gacha games [Paper presentation]. Linguistics Postgraduate Research Afternoon 2024, Queen Mary University of London, London, United Kingdom.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Teaching Associate, Queen Mary University of London, London, United Kingdom

- EAL4710 Reading and Writing Critically, Department of International Education — Autumn 2026
  Module convenor: Charlotte Assimakopoulos

- EAL4205 Excellence in Academic Writing 1, Department of International Education
  Module convenor: Luis Carabantes — Autumn 2026
- LIN5206 Applying Linguistics in the Real World, Department of Linguistics, School of the Arts
  Module convenor: Agnieszka Lyons — Spring 2025

Language Tutor (Mandarin Chinese), Speaking Practice Team, School of the Arts, Queen Mary University of London, London, United Kingdom — 2024 – 2026

Lecturer, Tangshan Vocational & Technical College, Tangshan, China — 2021 – 2023

- College English
- Career Guidance

TEACHING QUALIFICATIONS

Associate Fellow of the Higher Education Academy (AFHEA), Advance HE — 2026

Certificate in Learning and Teaching (CILT), Queen Mary University of London — 2026

Teacher Qualification Certificate (Higher Education), Ministry of Education of the People's Republic of China — 2022

RELATED PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Translator (part-time), Toplingual Service Co., Ltd., Beijing, China — 2020 – 2021

Translator (part-time), Eagle Eye Translation Service Co., Ltd., Shanghai, China — 2019 – 2020

SERVICE

Volunteer (host, logistics and event support), Guest Speaker Seminar Series, Department of Linguistics, School of the Arts, Queen Mary University of London, London, United Kingdom — 2026

Volunteer (logistics and event support), Confucius Institute, Queen Mary University of London, London, United Kingdom — 2024 – 2025

Volunteer (translation and support), First China Public Policy Translation Forum, Beijing, China — 2019

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIPS

Digital Games Research Association (DiGRA)
British Association for Applied Linguistics (BAAL)

LANGUAGES AND SKILLS

Languages: Chinese (native); English (fluent); Japanese (basic)
Digital skills: ELAN; NVivo; LaTeX; Python; R